

Safety Relief Valve Replacement

October 17, 2017

It is the recommendation of Hansen Technologies Corporation (“Hansen”) that safety relief valves be replaced in a timely manner in accordance with local codes and standards. As specified in the Terms and Conditions of Sale that accompanied your purchase, the purchaser is responsible for compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, codes, recommendations and requirements pertaining to the purchase. We strongly recommend that replacement valves be purchased directly from the manufacturer and should not be rebuilt or recertified by a third party.

Please note that your product warranty may be voided if replacement valves are modified, altered, or otherwise changed by unauthorized third parties. Hansen safety relief valves are not designed to be disassembled and reassembled. Further, Hansen disclaims any liability for valves that are not used in accordance with the instructions specified in the product manual. Genuine Hansen replacement valves and products can be purchased by contacting Hansen at +1-800-426-7368 or +1-630-325-1565, or via email at sales@hantech.com.

The safety of our customers and end users is of utmost importance to Hansen. We appreciate your prompt attention to this correspondence.
